Things to Do

We supply experienced professional activity guides and all the technical equipment you'll need for a day of adventure... so all you need to do is turn up!

Adventure Days

“Ab and Crag”

Start the day with an abseil off a 25m disused railway viaduct which is a sure-fire means of getting comfortable with all the ropes, technical kit and harnesses etc. you'll be using later on the rock-face. After a break to eat your 'snap' (lunch) we travel to one of the many Gritstone crags in the National Park for an afternoon of classic climbing and some spectacular views of the countryside thrown in.

“Ab and Cave”

A similar day to the “Ab and Crag” day but the afternoon activity is an exploration of a natural river cave which includes an underground waterfall to abseil down (thus putting into use the abseiling skills you learned in the morning).

“Up and Down”

A morning of rock climbing and an afternoon underground in a natural cave or lead mine (can be vice-versa). It's quite likely that we'll be able to fit in an abseil when we're rock climbing.

“Peak Trails”

Choose between a couple of options depending on what choice of scenery you'd prefer for your walk:

Dark Peak – A walk around the Edale Valley 'sky-line' or across Kinder Scout. Reasonably strenuous (the level of the walk can be decided in advance) with a reasonable amount of height-gain during the day. Spectacular peat-moorland scenery and the possibility of seeing Grouse and Mountain Hares.

White Peak – An excursion between pretty villages and along limestone dales following rivers and ancient trails. Gentle walking through rolling hills, sheep and cattle grazing fields with 'white' limestone dry-stone walls and ancient 'drovers' roads'. Quite likely there may be a pub to halt at around lunchtime!

“Bespoke Day”

If you are open to the spirit of true adventure your best bet would be to book a 'bespoke' day and create an itinerary which suits you and your group. Before you confirm your booking our guide will contact you to discuss the options open to you based on your objectives, the time of year, the length of the day and the weather possibilities.

“Personal Instruction”

If you would like to get the very most out of your activities or would like to take the opportunity to brush up on some personal skills either above or below ground we would suggest going for a day of personal instruction (this can be just for you, for a couple or for multiples of individuals/friends etc providing you don't exceed the group size/ratio described below). If you opt for 'personal instruction' the guide will liaise closely with you before the day to ensure they understand what you want out of the session(s).
